

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.

"Twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue could tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

No use turning the other cheek to the man who strikes you. He doesn't mind hitting twice in the same place.

Coffee Drinking on the Increase.

Coffee bids fair to become the most widely used beverage in the world. Its importation into this country has reached enormous proportions. New Orleans is a close second to New York in number of bags received annually, and these two ports almost monopolize the green coffee business of this country. Roasters and packers of these two cities have an advantage over those of the interior, in as much as they have no expensive railroad freight to pay on the heavy green coffee. There is a great difference in the coffee drunk in the North and the South. In the North the coffee is roasted a light brown and is made into a weak decoction resembling tea. In the South the coffee is roasted a rich, dark brown, which brews into a rich, frothy liquid of pronounced flavor and greater strength. Dealers all recognize the difference between "Northern Roast" and "Southern Roast." The best and lowest priced prepared coffee for Southern people, therefore, comes from New Orleans. The most popular and satisfactory brand is called Luzianne Coffee. It is a well known fact that this coffee has twice the strength of ordinary brands and is, therefore, very economical. Every enterprising grocer in the South has it for sale.

Even the naked truth appears in better light if clothed in polite language.

DEATH TO RING WORM.

"Everywhere I go I speak for TETTERINE, because it cured me of ringworm in its worst form. My whole chest from neck to waist was raw as beef; but TETTERINE cured me. It also cured a bad case of piles." So says Mrs. M. F. Jones of 28 Tannehill St., Pittsburgh, Pa. TETTERINE, the great skin remedy, is sold by druggists or sent by mail for 50c. Write J. T. SHUTTER, Dept. A, Savannah, Ga.

A RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Account of the Most Serious One Australia Has Ever Had.

A correspondent in Australia writes to us as follows:

"Last Easter Monday witnessed what is claimed to have been the most serious railway accident which has yet occurred in Australia. Up to date (April 29) the official roll of deaths and casualties is: Deaths, 44; casualties officially reported, 378. (The number of deaths was given later as 48, and of those injured at 419.)

"Briefly, what happened was that a Bendigo train travelling with a full complement of Easter excursionists and consequently very heavy and considerably behind scheduled time, ran into the junction station of Sunshine at such a speed that the Westinghouse brakes could not pull her up in time to prevent the running down and wrecking of a Ballarat excursion train which had just arrived from the line in the West and had begun to unload her passengers.

"There seems to be little foundation for the driver's statement that the brakes refused to act. Not only did onlookers notice the sparks from the wheels of the whole train for some hundreds of feet before the accident occurred, but the comparative immunity from casualties of the Bendigo train shows that these brakes must have been acting.

"After the accident the state of affairs was rendered more horrible by a fire which broke out. Unlike the American trains, Australian trains are not fitted with axes, hammers, jacks and such appliances to facilitate the removal of the victims after an accident, and a great deal of the trouble, and even many of the deaths, may be directly traced to the delay in extricating the sufferers from the burning debris.

"There is at the present juncture no need to elaborate such irregularities as that the trains were both running long behind their scheduled times. Such occurrences are common with all excursion trains on Easter Monday, and are not specially confined to state railways. But every one acquainted with railway work will see at once that the possibility of such an accident on a modern interlocking railway, ostensibly equipped with the best interlocking gear, should be inconceivable. Naturally, the state government has ordered a full inquiry into all the circumstances, to be conducted by a judge of the supreme court, assisted by the best engineering talent.

"The result of this inquiry will be awaited with some interest. Not only is Victoria an example of a country where the railways are entirely owned and controlled by the state, but for many years it has been held up as a model of the advantages which follow that political system. At one time in this state of Victoria public safety was regarded as of greater consequence than revenue. Lately, however, the local press have been complaining that too great economies are being practiced for safety."—Engineer.

A Dream.

To other evening the Hon. Robert Douglass of Oil City Pa., who works a lo—I mean works for a local paper—was sitting at his desk longing for a chance to turn loose an inspired intellect upon the Denver convention, and wondering whether he'd have the chance or not, when his boss, the top line boss, hailed him from the next room. Bob answered the hail.

"Mr. Douglass," said the boss, "I want you to leave for Chicago in the morning. I do not know that it is absolutely necessary that we should have a special man there ten days ahead of time, but I would feel safer if you were on the ground and had your eye on things. I have just wired to the Auditorium Hotel to reserve two rooms and bath for you at $40 a day. Here is a mileage book and 'I think you had better take a drawing room going out. I wouldn't care to have you uncomfortable during the trip or tired when you arrived in Chicago. You will need considerable expense money. Here is an order for $500. Wire for more when you need it. I do not care to have you spend less than $25 a day. It might lower the tone of this office."

Mr. Douglass woke up about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. He thinks he must have eaten a grape.—Washington Star.

Half Price.

A well known actor was taking dinner at a fashionable Chicago hotel during the recent Republican convention when a young man came in and sat down at the same table. He apparently recognized the actor, for after gazing at him intently for a couple of minutes he pulled a $2 bill ostentatiously from a large roll, and, shoving it across the table, remarked:

"I always feel as if I had to pay to see a famous man, don't you know?"

The "famous man" calmly tore the $2 bill in half and returned one section to the young man.

"Children half price," he observed, composedly.—New York Times.

Maine's Latest Snake Story.

An old hen with a large family of small chickens, was recently given an empty barrel turned down on its side, for a coop on the writer's premises. One day recently the hen gave the signal of distress used by all good grangers and the barrel was quickly surrounded by the fighting members of the household.

A large snake was found in the barrel and quickly lynched. Several bunches were noticed on the reptile's body and he was ripped up the back with a pair of shears and seven chickens were found gasping for breath. They are all alive yet.—Lowiston Journal.

Record Log Drive.

A drive of 3,000,000 feet of logs has arrived at the inlet of Lake Irving, where the Mississippi River flows in to the lake. This drive of logs was brought from Lake Itasca in exactly thirty days, which is a record breaking feat in driving logs down the Mississippi River. All conditions were favorable, the water being high and there being nothing to impede the progress of the drive.

The logs were cut in the Itasca State Park and along the Mississippi River this side of the park, being banked last winter on Lake Itasca and the Mississippi River. The entire drive will be brought across Lake Irving, sluiced through the Mississippi between Lake Irving and Lake Bemidji and finally boomed on the south-east shore of Lake Bemidji to be cut in a local sawmill.—Bemidji correspondence St. Paul Pioneer Press.

ECZEMA FOR FIFTY-FIVE YEARS.

Suffered Torments from Birth—In Frightful Condition—Got No Help Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man fifty-five years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. Hale Bordwell, Tipton, Ia., Aug. 17, 1907."

"I cheerfully endorse the above testimonial. It is the truth. I know Mr. Bordwell and know the condition he was in. Nelson R. Burnett, Tipton, Ia."
